Poor Mother is

Daughter's
Heart Surgery.
Please Help!!

Pranshi 7 Years

My daughter Pranshi is 7 years old, and she has been diagnosed with congenital heart disease. And has to go undergo heart surgery.

One day while playing, she suddenly fell down, and her body started trembling. We immediately rushed her to the nearest child specialist, where the doctor did some tests and told us that there is some heart-related issue and suggested us to go to a big hospital as they don't have the required facilities, so we came to Sir Ganga Ram Hospital, where the doctor did some tests, and we received the devastating news that Pranshi is suffering from Atrial Septal Defect (i.e., a hole in a heart) and her heart condition requires heart surgery, costing Rs. 2,80,000.

As a family already burdened by financial strain, with my husband earning just Rs. 6,000 per month as a kabadi wala, this amount feels impossible to bear. The weight of our daughter's illness, combined with the financial struggle, has left us grasping for hope.

With folded hands, I beseech the kindness and generosity of the Diya India Foundation and its compassionate supporters. Please, help us save our daughter's precious life. Your support is our only hope in this dark time.

If my daughter doesn't get the surgery, she will lose her battle for life. No parent can ever imagine a life without their child. !! Please Help !!
